Welcome to issue No 13 of Morrigan Rising, our yearly wrap up is here and what a busy year it has been. In this issue you will find gig reports from WAU Sisters, news from our homelands, our regular prisoner written submissions and much more. Also, keep in mind that a lot of our sisters and writers don't use English as a first language so you will notice that when reading some of their written works, sometimes it's difficult to translate their words perfectly, but we do make sure that everything is written where you the reader can comprehend the written piece with no problems.

We would like to take this opportunity to thank everyone who has supported WAU over the last 21 years it has been a wonderful 21 years and we look forward to many more. WAU would also like to welcome Talena to Our Sisterhood, so far Talena has proven to be a wonderful addition to our family. This year we will also welcome another new baby into the WAU Family, but you will have to check out HomeFront issue No 13 due out in May / June for news and updates. HomeFront will be our staple magazine with three issues per year and Morrigan Rising will be available at the start to early Spring of each new year with news, updates and written works not suited to HomeFront.

2011 has seen many changes for most of our Homelands, economic crisis are rampant across Europe and now my homeland Ireland is in the Hands of the IMF, it's time to get smart with our money, lands and careers, let's start choosing careers that are more trade orientated. We have way too many people who sit behind desks and not enough people out there using their hands, we need more builders, plumbers, electricians, etc. you only have to look at the shoddy houses being built these days to know that White Folk are being outbid, we now have non whites building houses out of chipboard that will definitely not withstand the test of time. You see European buildings that are hundreds of years old still standing and nowadays you'd be lucky to purchase a new house that would be a viable asset in 30 years. It's time to start building our own homes on our own land...

We would like to dedicate this issue of Morrigan Rising to Bruce Carroll Pierce who passed away in 2010, his words, honour and dedication will never be forgotten...

Gay marriage: a soon-to-be epidemic in Argentina

WAU Argentina

I'm aware that same-sex marriages have been legal in other countries for quite some time already, but this is something new in Argentina. By the end of last year, the first homosexual marriage was authorized in Buenos Aires our Capital City. Even if, after legal controversies that lasted about one month, such marriages were later on prohibited from taking place in Buenos Aires, such marriages finally took place in an Argentine province, Tierra del Fuego, located in southern Argentina.

Now, a few months later, another homosexual couple has requested authorization to marry in Buenos Aires. Additionally, it was reported in the news last week that two women were authorized to get married and in fact, they have already been married. Are we facing a possible epidemic of homosexual marriages? Unfortunately, the answer seems to be "yes".

Regardless of the laws and procedures of any kind in any country, the point that I'm trying to make here is this: homosexual marriages should not be permitted. The only valid and legal marriage is that between a man and a woman. Homosexuality is unnatural, it is a perversion contrary to the laws of the Nature and as such, it should not be fostered and celebrated. Marriage is a sacred institution under which a man and women unite in order to start a family, and giving a homosexual couple the same legal status and rights as a heterosexual couple is just wrong. But this does not (and will not) stop here: these newly married homosexuals will surely want to adopt a baby to complete their "family", and, considering the way things are going, it is very likely that such adoption request would be granted. Of course, this is only a hypothetical situation... that might as well become real.

So far, these are isolated cases, where courts and judges must intervene if such marriages want to be approved by the interested parties, because sections 172 and 188 of the Argentine Civil Code implicitly provide that a marriage shall only considered as such if it takes place between a man and a woman. Section 172 sets out the requirements for a valid marriage, one of which is that the marriage be between two persons of different genders; section 188 provides that the future spouses shall declare their willingness to take each other "as husband and wife".

It has been recently announced that a committee of the Argentine Congress intends to submit a bill in order to amend the pertinent parts of the Argentine Civil Code so as to allow same-sex marriages.

Should this amendment take place, it would constitute a victory for groups supporting homosexuality and other perversions and a sad defeat for all of us who stand for the few traditional values left in nowadays society. Whenever we think that human societies have reached their maximum level of degradation, something new always comes up and proves us wrong. The worst of all is that, because of the propaganda fueled by the media, children will grow up thinking that it is natural that two men or two women are married, thus inexorably distorting in the long term the image of what a normal family really is.

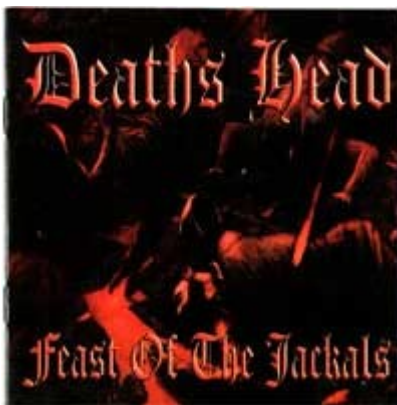

Is there anything we can do about it? Certainly not much, but what we can do and must do is continue instilling in our children the idea of right and wrong and encourage them to live by the morals of a racially aware family.

UPDATE November 2010: Finally, after a long debate and public opinion in the Argentine Congress, same-sex marriage was approved and became legal, despite the thousands of people who demonstrated against it in front of the Congress building while the debate indoors lasted, and thus became the first Latin American country to approve such marriages. Now, homosexual couples can show up at the Civil Registry and request an appointment to be married, just like a normal couple. Oh, one thing more: the epithet to refer to homosexual marriage is "equality marriage"...

WAU - The following interview is with Jesse, the founding member and lead vocalist of Australian White Power Heavy Metal band, Deaths Head. Hail Jesse. For those of our readers who do not know who Deaths Head are, can you give us a brief history of the band, the line up (past & present) and how it all got started?

Jesse / DH Hi, anyone who has read any DH interviews has heard the answer to this one a million times, so I'll gloss over the ancient history in favour of the more recent stuff. DH first formed in Brisbane Australia in 1999 but relocated to Melbourne a few years later to be a part of a more active scene. We recorded a couple of albums but then lost our steady line up for the variety of reasons that plague most NS bands with any longevity. For the next few years after that DH was a project band with me writing music and playing a few one off shows with a backup band. This brings us to Deaths Heads latest incarnation. About a year ago I had recently become part of a reformed Ravenous line up and we started tossing the idea around of getting DH back up and running as a gigging band. We all swapped instruments and co-opted newcomer T in as rhythm guitarist. We played a couple of songs to see how it went at the 2010 Hammered festival on the Gold Coast which went down well, so we kept at it and played a full set at this year's ISD in Melbourne, so now we are officially resurrected.

WAU - Are there any bands in particular that have influenced the sound and style of Deaths Head?

Jesse / DH The bands that influenced our most important recordings were 80's thrash bands such as old Metallica, Megadeth, Slayer. I think our guitarist ripped off Black Sabbath a little ha ha. We were also really influenced by early hatecore such as Nordic Thunder and Blue Eyed Devils.

WAU - How many albums has Deaths Head recorded and which one would you consider to be your best work?

Jesse / DH Deaths Head has recorded 5 Full length albums and 2 split cds as well as various compilations etc.

Here's our discography for those interested:

Hang The Traitors Demo, 1999
Onslaught Full-length, 2001
Feast of the Jackals Full-length, 2003
Iron Warmachine / Onward to Victory Split, 2004
Hatreds Disciples Full-length, 2005
Blood On My Hands Split album, 2006
Metal Skin Live Live album, 2006
Kriegslied Full-length, 2008
Decompilation Best of/Compilation, 2009
Baldr Full-length, 2010

Personally I think our best album was Feast of the Jackals. We really hit our stride with what I think is our heaviest and most professional album lyrically and musically. Also the production and sound are excellent. Most everyone else will say Onslaught was our best album. This one is the most "skinhead" of our recordings. I like this one as well but FOTJ is still the best in my opinion.

WAU - Deaths Head are a very popular band Overseas; can you tell me which countries you have played in and other bands that Deaths Head have played with?

Jesse / DH As a full band we were lucky enough to go on a small tour of Europe where we played in France, Switzerland and Germany. This was back in 2003 I think so I can hardly remember who we played with back then -- Stealcapped Strength, Race War, Spreegeschwader, Intimidation 1, on that tour... Moshpit, I think a few others... it was a long time ago. Since then I have done a couple of shows with a backup band in the U.S and Germany and played with Definite Hate, Attack, 13 Knots, Rebel Hell. Probably the best bands though are ones we played with here at home, most recently White Knuckle Driver and Blue Eyed Devils, Open Season and of course Fortress before they disbanded.

WAU -What are some of the more memorable experiences you guys have had on tour?

Jesse / DH Gig wise probably the most memorable thing was playing to over a thousand people in France. Before that our biggest crowd had been about 60 so it was an eye opener to say the least. I've still never had the chance to play anything like it again. On the tour in general, one of the most interesting things that happened was we were driving to a show in Germany and were passing near a concentration camp so stopped to take the tour. Some antifa came and asked if we were Nazis, then more antis, then more... eventually there were about 60 antifas surrounding us as we left...

I think there were 8 or so of us. They still did not do anything, but it was memorable to say the least.

WAU - Deaths Head have only recently started playing again in Australia, is there a reason you stopped playing here and how did it feel to play here again to such an enthusiastic crowd?

Jesse / DH I never wanted to stop playing as Deaths Head, but as anyone who has spent time in the movement knows, you see a high turnover rate of people come and go, for whatever reason. Whether it is in fighting or personal bullshit or they just lose heart. We lost members this way and the thing about DH is that it is a political band. We don't just want musicians but people who believe in the ideals we preach as well, so it is much harder to find replacements. I've just been lucky enough to be able to fill out the line up with such people recently, hopefully it will last. As for playing to an enthusiastic crowd, it's been great. Back when we were last playing DH was always like a filler band here. Everyone preferred rock n roll or straight oi, so our metal sound kind of put people off. The last few years though have seen Hardcore and metal styles become more popular, that and the younger crowd we are getting at shows lately means we're getting a crowd more willing to interact with the band that means we try harder as well. Hope they keep it up as it makes it much more enjoyable for us to play and makes for a better show all around.

WAU - What other bands are you involved in?

Jesse / DH At the moment I have been playing bass in a reformed line up of Ravenous for about 2 years. I also have a recording side project called Kilgore, which is a different less serious style than Deaths Head. I finished recording the 3rd full length CD of that project a couple of months ago. Oh and I did a few shows as singer for a skinhead covers band called Ultra Violence.

WAU - So how does it feel to be a Skinhead Superstar?

Jesse / DH I can only assume you're taking the piss with that question ha ha, but I will still try to answer it seriously. I would hope that there is no such thing as a skinhead superstar. Ours isn't a movement where people should put themselves above anyone else just because they are in a band. Being in a band is fun, there's no denying, but if people know who I am because of it I hope it just means they might be more inclined to listen to the things I say about our movement. At the end of the day it is the message that is the important thing. Anyone who puts on airs just because they are in a band has obviously got the wrong idea.

In my experience locally being a "skinhead superstar" in a band just means you get to be one of the first to arrive to help set up and one of the last to leave after packing up.

WAU - What does the future hold for Deaths Head?

Jesse / DH In the immediate future we have a show in New Zealand for Blood and Honour over there, which I am sure will be a blast and following that we play the second Hammered Festival on the Gold Coast in April next year. We have a new album written and ready to be recorded so if time permits we may start work on that after that.

WAU - Free music downloads seem to be a growing concern for WP distros and in particular the bands these days. Would you like to comment on how this is impacting on the bands and what this means for the future of WP music?

Jesse / DH This is a passionate point for me and one I can't reiterate enough. People seem to think illegally downloading CDs is a victimless crime and if they are talking about the latest Metallica CD or something I could care less, those guys have more money than god so screw 'em. Our movement however, relies on the income from CD sales to continue to function. Recording albums isn't cheap and quite often the returns from one project pays for the next. It only takes one failed CD to put a distro out of business. People seem to think that bands make a lot of money out of the movement. I can only speak personally but this just isn't the case. In a lot of cases bands pay recording costs themselves and are lucky to get their money back at all, never mind all the artistic effort that goes into a release. That's something people should think about next time they are downloading free WP music.

WAU - Where are our readers able to purchase band merchandise and CDs?

Jesse / DH Deaths Head stuff is all over and most distros will have at least one DH release. Locally (Australia) you can Deaths Head merch from 9% Productions -- 9percentproductions.com.

WAU - Are there any final comments you would like to pass on to our readers?

Jesse / DH I'd just like to say thanks to the WAU for the chance to speak to them about my music. We support the goals you work towards, especially all your work for prisoner support and what you do for struggling white families. More people should get involved.

WAU - Thank you Jesse for doing this interview... 14

No problem, my pleasure.

White farmers in Zimbabwe still under siege...

HARARE, Zimbabwe -- A white farmers' organization said yesterday that its members had seen a renewed onslaught of farm seizures and attacks, including the slayings of two farmers, in recent weeks.

Deon Theron, head of the Commercial Farmers Union, which represents Zimbabwe's dwindling white farmers -- some 300 whites still hold farmland -- said the attacks followed an announcement last month from President Robert Mugabe that scheduled a constitutional referendum and national elections next year. Theron said police and security authorities have refused to act against a new wave of violence, evictions, and occupations in the build-up to polling.

That "signals the start of a renewed onslaught against rural communities" by Mugabe's loyalists, Theron said.

In several districts intruders broke into homesteads and locked the owners out, leaving them with nothing but the clothes they were wearing, the statement said.

Mugabe last month vowed to call elections next year to end the nation's shaky coalition with his longtime rival, Prime Minister Morgan Tsvangirai. The troubled power-sharing deal is due to expire at the two-year mark, in February.

The last two weeks, two farmers have died in robberies, and three were forced from their homes in the Banket district, 60 miles northwest of Harare.

About 4,000 white farmers have been forced from their farms since 2000, disrupting the agriculture-based economy in the former regional breadbasket. Many farms went to Mugabe cronies and still lie idle.

Where is NATO? Where are the international meetings with representatives from around the world to discuss this genocide?

Rise of the West by Frank L. Desilva

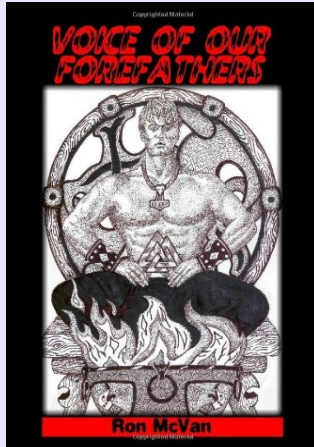

Rise of the West is an epistemology of those things dearest to the Nationalist: his past, his spirit, his blood, his technics and, most important, his Future. With so many of Western man's life-force being denied him, and the vestiges of what was hard-won now being methodically, and irrevocably lost to the machinations of what the Author calls, the Modern, the Rise of the West seeks to walk the reader through racial, and more specifically, [our] American racial history, in a way which both elucidates, and becomes an intellectual primer for the values, mores, and concepts which are best expressed as Race-Culture, that which becomes our "will to express" and the very extension of our need to survive, and survive intact, maintaining the legacy of Life left to us by our Mothers and Fathers.

Voice of our Forefathers By Ron McVan

"Wulf Sorensen wrote the original Voice of our Forefathers in the first half of the 20th century as a calling of the blood to all the of the Aryan tribes worldwide. In this newly expanded edition of that book, the reader will find an even deeper calling to times which are now far more perilous not only for Aryans and all of humanity but to our life-sustaining planet as well. Voice of our Forefathers makes a diligent attempt to awaken the Aryan people to the extremely vital and urgent issues incumbent upon those who are rapidly losing their ancestral and ethnic roots to an alarming degree in the maddening gyre of the modern industrial, consumer driven high-tech age."

CAUSE OF NATIONAL SOCIALISM by mike williams

In the mass media, as far back as I can remember, one seems to be constantly reminded of the "effect" National Socialism had on the world, with the accompanying images of Adolf Hitler, war, and destruction. But what actually caused an entire country of culturally advanced people to come together, elect and follow the force of a leader whose entire ideology centered around racial supremacy? What caused a whole country to risk all and give and all for this ideology of race and race supremacy?

Why would average citizens of a country, which had even then a tradition of being the culture and technological center of Europe, attach themselves to and follow this ideology into such sacrifice, destruction and misery? Was it because a single man, Adolf Hitler, was able to magically mesmerize this culturally and technologically advanced people into obeying his demands.

Ultimately, there may have been a number of common social factors which caused the people to elect a leader who may speak to these issues, whether they be economic or matters of national pride. But these do not explain what was behind and actually caused the phenomenon of National Socialism's birth into the world of politics and social mission.

Really, only a few individuals (mostly Jews with the authority of a Ph. D. -- which must mean they know what they are talking about) have taken the risky venture of explaining the Cause and success of National Socialism in such a culturally advanced country as Germany. A few of these emotionally frustrated or unbalanced people have explained, in their "educated" view that the German people are genetically evil and of barbaric heritage. They therefore spawned and followed a leader as equally evil and barbaric as in Adolf Hitler. And as we know, the rants of emotionally disturbed people (even though educated) are unscientific at best -- which explains why these men and women of liberal university overlooked the fact that many of the Americans and Allies who fought against Germany in World War II were in fact of German descent! So much for the so-called genetic evil.

Still, for good measure, and to appeal to as many people as possible, a few of these learned individuals have tried to appeal to superstition over the attempt at a pseudo-scientific approach in explaining away National Socialism's success. It has therefore been authoritatively theorized that Adolf Hitler possessed some "magical" oratorical skill, akin to the Devil himself, which hypnotized his hapless countrymen into following him into darkness; a real live "pied piper" they claim! There were even sermons preached in churches all over America and Europe declaring in the name of Christ that Hitler was the actual anti-Christ described in the Bible! How many people must have joined the war effort against Germany on that one belief alone?

But in the end, superstition proves unreliable and false as Adolf Hitler fulfilled no such Biblical prophecy. And it is equally preposterous to believe that Hitler was capable of mass hypnosis from a small podium with primitive public address systems; a large part of which were recordings heard over the radio. And Adolf Hitler was certainly not the only one to address the German masses for National Socialism.

These types of fantastic explanations are created by people who vehemently resist reason, logic and productive discussion to enter into the question of why National Socialism was willingly accepted by Germany; or why National Socialism came into existence at all. They much prefer that we just be socially bullied into accepting their emotionally charged conclusions forthwith and at face value in the name of "decency" and "humanity". Why? Because they fear that to truly understand why something like National Socialism came about and succeeded would justify the ideology -- not just for Germany, but the entire White race as a whole, then and now.

Fortunately, it is a natural fact that the truth cannot stay hidden. Even the likes of someone like myself, who never knew the glory of National Socialist Germany, has somehow come to understand what caused such a thing as National Socialism to be born amongst a people. And to understand how a whole country could come to recognize and validate National Socialism philosophy and mission.

National Socialism was and is a political name attached to a certain knowledge which began to be consciously understood in the nineteenth century. The White man at that time had gathered enough historical information, knowledge, and archaeological evidence regarding the great civilizations of the past (such as the Aryans of India, the Sumerians, Egyptians, Greeks and Romans) to know that great civilizations sprang up, people and philosophical and technological ideas flourished, and then somehow disintegrated into ruin. The modern White man had learned that previous ancient White people's planned and built these great civilizations, but was vexed as to be why they should eventually fall to ruin. It seemed to pose the question of whether all the effort of progress was really all for nothing. What was (and is) the point if it all ends in ruin?

Did great civilizations just get old and die like people? Or was there some logical, provable explanation to which the modern White man could learn from to prevent his own current civilization from meeting the same fate of ruination?

It was the discovery of the answer to this question which gave birth to the conscious realization of the importance of race. This realization of the significance of race provided the eventual cause and basis for the mission of the National Socialist Order.

The White man, in his search for the answer of why the great civilizations of the past fell to ruin, saw himself in the earliest and most prolific builders of those great civilizations. But in the present day descendants of those early builders, he did not see himself. In the oldest wall paintings of Egypt, in the surviving statuary of Sumer and especially Greece and Rome, the White man saw his image most beautifully imitated, yet in the descendants of these ruined civilizations who now lived in squalor, huts tents and mud buildings amidst the still standing wonders of the great pyramids and Parthenon's, the White man did not see himself. Even the racial appearance of these descendants of those ancient builders of civilization no longer looked like him. And here the answer to his question stared blankly back at him: race mixing had bred out the builders of these great civilizations into a dark mass, resulting in not just the ruination of the original race, but in every single instance, the civilization as well. The influence was obvious: when the White race is bred out by other races, the creative qualities of the White race is diminished to the point where the mixed descendants cannot advance or even maintain the original high civilization, and dies along with the race who built it.

If this was the consequence of race mixing in every instance of the past, does not the White race, in the name of "decency" and "humanity", then have a responsibility and a duty to prevent such ruination for the future? The conclusion was obviously Yes.

It was the discovery and understanding of this cycle of creation to destruction which faced the White race. These answers posed serious questions to the White race such as: "If you cease to be, who will be left to advance mathematics? Who will be left with the driving curiosity to discover? Who will create and advance the medical environment and medicine capable of checking the coming diseases, viruses and plagues? Who will be left to invent the resources upon which progress, civilization and survival depends; and of which all other races depend upon?"

Those who understand the grim questions and were compelled by fine character and concern for the future acted. And thus was born the progressive ideology of White Supremacy and its obligation toward racial purity beyond the vanity of racial aesthetics. This caused the necessity of the birth of an order which was politically named for the time National Socialism; a maturing political movement of idea and order aimed at saving, not just the White race for the sake of it, but civilization and progress itself -- for one does not exist without the other.

Those concerned thinking people who come to understand the reality of this necessity to save the only race, which is capable of "creative" progress and civilization, come to personally understand the Cause of National Socialism and why its philosophy and mission must succeed, and under any name. This Cause will stubbornly continue its existence until it reaches fulfillment and will not be denied. The proof is us.

Voice of the WarMaiden..

South Africa: A Nation in Crisis...

The eyes of the world were on South Africa as apartheid policies ended with immediate effect in 1990. In 1994, the first democratic elections took place in South Africa and Nelson Mandela was elected president. We all know that South Africa has a high rate of murders, assaults, rapes, and other crimes compared to most countries.

Many emigrants from South Africa state that crime was a big factor in their decision to leave. So what has changed in the last two decades? We really haven't heard much in the media about how wonderful it is to now live in South Africa with a black man as president, I guess we are left to assume that life in South Africa is now a Utopia filled with wonderful jobs, a great school system, decent housing and that crime and rape stats have drastically dropped since evil Whitey was kicked out of office. So let's take a peek behind the closed doors of South Africa to see how things have changed over the last two decades.

On May 24, 2000, the beaten, battered and nearly frozen body of a young Polish woman was found, clad only in a soaked t-shirt, along the road to South Africa's Sterkfontein Dam. Her body was so cold it was actually blue. Her hair was wet and she was covered with bruises, open wounds, deep scratches, and mud. She was curled in a fetal position. She was still alive. To students of rape in South Africa she was another digit in the statistics. To Americans and Europeans who get their news from the major media, she didn't even exist.

South African mother Ame Brown of Elliot in the Eastern Cape recently stated: "On the 8th of October, 1998 my two children and I were overpowered by four Black men. We were robbed of everything, and before leaving the men took turns raping me in front of my two boys aged 8 and 12. They forced my boys to watch. I have since then been tested for HIV of which my tests at five months showed positive. It has not been easy coping with being raped and having HIV. But I have a fantastic husband who has stood by me through all my depression and down days and all my sleepless nights. He has been my backbone and tower of strength."

Eljah Ngobese, reporting from Thokoza for The Citizen, came closest to reporting about the "AWB better than ANC" poster, quoting residents as telling him: "We are tired of empty promises. All this government want from us is a vote, nothing else. They are treating us as monkeys. How can they shoot us while we are protesting for our rights?"

Taken from the UK's Daily Mail: For all South Africa's aims to be following the rule of law, there are comparisons here with Zimbabwe and other calamitous reforms under the banner of 'Africa for the Africans'. 'I saw people with heads cut off, horrible things,' says farmer Ockert van Niekerk as he sits his toddler daughter on his lap at home. The aim is to scare white people. The attacks are not just crimes. They're political. You don't wait for a farmer for eight hours, kill him and steal a frozen chicken. In warfare you learn to soften the target, and the aim is to break us mentally and spiritually.'

As a South African Police Service (SAPS) officer, Derek Jonker investigated 52 separate farm attacks and he says, 'There has been a decline in the abilities of the police. There is a power struggle in the police and investigators are not qualified. 'Crime prevention has collapsed totally,' he adds. 'And cops tracking cases lack experience and resources to gather evidence and arrest offenders. Dockets vanish and criminals get let out of jail.'

Jackie Loffell, Johannesburg Child Welfare Society, 13th International Congress on Child Abuse and Neglect in Durban.: South Africa is also the rape capital of the world. A woman is reported raped every 23 seconds in South Africa. A small child is reported raped every thirty minutes. And remember, these are the reported and admitted rapes. This dismal record is partly due to the Congoids' innate savagery when released from the control of civilized men, and partly due to the Black folk belief that raping a virgin will cure AIDS, which is rampant in that country.

From the The Guardian an UK Newspaper July 2009: Bongani Mazibuko, who has been unemployed for years, added: "This government is rotten to the core." Fifteen years after the ANC won its first election, more than 1 million South Africans still live in shacks, many without access to electricity or running water.

Black South Africans don't even want other Blacks there:

<http://www.ethiopianreview.com/content/2550> - "They came at night, trying to kill us, with people pointing out, this one is a foreigner and this one is not," said Charles Mannyike, 28, an immigrant from Mozambique. "It was a cruel and ugly hatred."

You can go online and read the countless stories and get to see how bad South Africa has been to live in since the 1990s, go to youtube and check out videos for yourself, see how blacks feel about Robert Mugabe and how they have no jobs or food, so where is everything that he has stolen from Whites gone too?

They have no problem enjoying the fruits of our labour. i.e, electricity, home's made of other materials beside cow dung and straw, a medical and welfare system, in the year 2011 blacks still haven't figured out how to get themselves out of poverty, they would rather grab the closest machete and hack up someone or blame White Folk. If we never settled in South Africa they would all still be sitting in their own feces like their brethren in Ethiopia crying and asking us for help, non whites hate us unless they need aid from us, then they have Bob Geldof to put on a multimillion fundraiser that never helped them as they are incapable of fending for themselves without our aide...

Blast from the past interview with Bruce Pierce.....

Imprisoned Odinist Scott Tolley interviews Bruder Schweigen POW Bruce C. Pierce regarding religious divergence within the "movement".

For some time now, I have been meaning to write an article that might help our folk, who may have disagreeing spiritual beliefs, to better understand one another. It's my opinion that the concept of "perfect unity" between the different secular "factions" of our Folk may indeed be unrealistic. However, I feel that if we simply have a better understanding of each others spirituality we will in fact take a tremendous step in the right direction. Time and time again I've read articles in which the authors use the term "Heathen" or "Pagan" in a slighting or insulting context. As an Odinist, it bothers me to see those terms used with a negative connotation (it would be like me using the term "Christian" to denounce or describe jewdeo-christianity; and by doing so I may unknowingly be disrespecting an Identity Christian). What we have is a lack of understanding -- and how can we ever expect to form any semblance of unanimity between the differing secular "factions" within the "movement" if we lack understanding of one another? I feel we can't; it's that simple! I suspect there are none among us who possess all the answers, although if we work together we may discover the key that will open the door to an improved accord. Then perhaps those that need to can move forward instead of "butting-heads". Recently, I had the opportunity and privilege to spend some time with a very knowledgeable and esteemed hero within our "movement". This man is a devout Identity Christian, and also very open-minded -- placing the best interests of our Folk first and foremost.

That man is Bruder Schweigen POW Bruce C. Pierce, a warrior who has made great sacrifices for the Fourteen Words. I felt that perhaps an interview between a devout Identity Christian, Bruce, and a dedicated Odinist, myself, might be beneficial in the desire for and interest of understanding.

SCOTT: Bruce, as an Odinist I worship the old Norse Gods and Goddesses and all they stand for. I believe in the laws of nature and strive to live my life based on virtue, not vice. Heritage and my people's traditions are very important to me, as my religion is very "folkish" -- that is to say it is based on ancestry. Can you briefly tell me of your religious beliefs?

BRUCE: Identity is a theory that holds that some of our entire race are the biological descendants of the ancient Israelites -- IF they are racially pure. Now don't be confused, Jews are not the biological descendants of the ancient Israelites, in fact they admit as much in their own literature. They are in fact mongrels that have appropriated this term to mislead and manipulate the world. Think on it a moment -- would the Creator of ALL use a mongrel people to represent Him? Furthermore, the Bible is almost exclusively devoted to the issue of law, and Identity believes that it is necessary that one strives to obey the laws/commands of Yahweh. These laws/commands are not burdensome. Quite the opposite, they offer us freedom and liberty that we have never before experienced. Rather than having any strong central or territorial government, the laws/commands are based in the community.

SCOTT: In the last few years a recent revival of Odinism has grown by leaps and bounds; both in the prison system and in the "real world". Would you care to share your views on such?

BRUCE: Learning about heritage and the plight that threatens our race is definitely a step in the right direction. But, if the growth of the Odinist movement is as you say, then I am disappointed that the truth(s) of Identity have not been better disseminated. Identity should not be confused with jewdeo-christianity or Jews. I feel that too many authors within today's "movement" have commented on Identity although they seem to know very little about it. They rip verses out of context here and there to fit their needs.

SCOTT: Obviously I can't speak for all my Odinist Kinsmen, but I do know that quite a few Odinists harbor a deep resentment towards Christianity in any form. This may be due in part to the way the conversion to Christianity was carried out in Middle Europe & Scandinavia in the late goo's.

BRUCE: Actually, Scott, I agree with the Odinists who feel disgust at the way Christianity was forced upon Europe. There are no legitimate converts when coercion is employed. But, evil men have always used religion to server their selfish ends and Odinism is likely no different. Evil men have most likely used it as other evil men have used Christianity to accomplish their dark political objectives. On the other hand, Identity is not religion, it is LAW!

SCOTT: Sometimes I get the impression that many Identity folk view Odinism as being barbaric and outdated, not suitable for our modern times. Do you feel that way?

BRUCE: Odinism, as I understand it, as it has come down from our ancestors, seems to lack a definite Law Code. It seems to have no laws other than a vague Natural Law that can have a different interpretation from person to person. Yet, and again, I say that it's a step in the right direction in that it teaches race and heritage.

SCOTT: Tell me Bruce, What do the terms "Heathen" and "Pagan" mean to you?

BRUCE: Basically they represent someone who is not Christian. They are not adjectives to describe backwardness or lack of culture, etc.

SCOTT: Odinism -- to me personally -- is much more than just a religion, it's a way of life for those who are serious about it. We base our laws on kindred, tribe and clan, and the unity found within the three. Do you feel that unity is an important issue that needs to be addressed by the different secular "factions" within the movement?

BRUCE: I've said before that I don't think that unity is all that good of an idea, for security reasons, and I also feel that it is unreasonable to expect. But, we can have understanding; an understanding that hopefully puts an end to attacking on another's beliefs. Haven't we enough enemies already? Is not the BEAST large enough to satisfy our martial spirit? I also believe that we should choose enemies carefully. Most non-whites hate the beast-system as much as we do. We should not needlessly make them hate us; rather we should direct their attention to our common foe.

SCOTT: I agree with you completely Bruce. Let's talk for a moment about the shape of our youth (non-movement youth) these days. It would seem that many of our youth are being successfully brain-washed by the media/government and its scheming masters. How do you recommend combating this blatant brain-washing?

BRUCE: The Internet and White power music are ways, however limited, to reach our youth. What I feel that our folk in the movement need to do is focus far less on distributing it's newsletter within the movement to those who have already been awakened, but rather concentrate outward in an outreach program to the ignorant of our race. How many times have I said this, but it seems like nothing has changed. Lemming-like, we continue to pursue failed policies. Madness is doing the same thing over and over but expecting different results.

SCOTT: What are your views concerning revolution in the United States? Do you feel that "White Revolution is the only solution", or do you feel that it's possible for this country's people to "awaken" herself to matters of race in a different fashion?

BRUCE: I believe that history will reveal that no nation, once it has begun its decline, has reversed itself and recovered. So don't even consider it a possibility. Furthermore, no government will concede power unless forced to do so. Make your own conclusions.

SCOTT: I see that you are in extremely good health, Bruce, both physically and mentally. Obviously your stay in Marion (10 years) did not hamper you much. Any comment on how you stay so fit?

BRUCE: "What doesn't kill me only makes me stronger". One either possesses the strength to endure and grow or one doesn't.

SCOTT: Well said. Briefly, what are your feelings towards today's movement?

BRUCE: Two words - Sadness and Disappointment. I can't believe that there is not better guidance and leadership in the movement, and that the same failed methods are being used over and over again.

SCOTT: Well Bruce, do you have any final words for the readers as we close this up?

BRUCE: We must put aside what in the past represented commitment to a cause. It didn't work then, and it's not working now. Mouthing rhetoric and clichés, attending meetings and reading material is what one does in their free time while not occupied with the more important duties to the cause. If you're not an ACTIVE participating member of the outreach program to get the message to the ignorant of our race (distributing fliers and newsletters at malls, parking lots, etc., setting up a page on the internet and responding to queries or using the medium of radio, TV, newspaper, etc.), or an active member of the underground or a financial supporter of either or both, we don't need you! We don't want you!! SPIN!!!

Regarding Issue No 11 - I love women, I respect women, I admire women, I especially love WHITE women who believe in themselves, 'their' ideals and more than anything 'their' racial purity. I am new to the B&H forum and had never heard of the WAU before, I think your magazine is wonderful, very inspiring, I am very fortunate to have a partner who is very proud to be a woman, very proud of her European heritage and very proud of her racial identity. She was raised correctly by her parents who made it very clear that at no point was she ever to bring home an 'ethnic'. She is a hard worker, has very sound morals and is a wonderful mother to our kids. Think the B&H thing can sometimes be 'to much' of the macho, caveman type thing, without mothers, sisters, wives, partners, etc, what would 'any' of us be? Without doubt WHITE women were gods number one creation (which is why blacks, ethnics, the racially inferior, etc, are so desperate to deflower them). Keep up the good work and may all the proud, white Valkyries of this world be Heiled! Reader from South Birmingham, UK

Regarding Issue No 12 - I enjoyed it very much and apart from a few personal issues/feelings I agreed with the whole of the articles, also liked the past events articles and really liked that Mjollnir clock gift in the Yuletide fund part, good personal insight into WAU. Cheers Reader from Birmingham, UK

Regarding Issue No 12 - This is an awesome publication. the reason I got involved with the movement was the birth of my daughter. 14 words. Thanks ladies. Reader from Tennessee, USA.

Regarding our 20 year anniversary: I would just like to thank all of W.A.U. for all there hard work and commitment over the years. All the W.A.U. members that I have meet and dealt with have been of the highest caliber.

Enemy Within..

A sickening display on remembrance day in Britain as Muslims burned poppies and chanted "British soldiers burn in hell". The reaction of the corporate media has been a joke especially considering when some Christian minister in the southern United States was going to burn a Koran in protest of a mosque being built near ground zero in New York, every politician, talk radio host and T.V personality condemned the act of ignorance and intolerance. So where are those voices of condemnation NOW!?!

We have come to not expect much from politicians and media though the German chancellor has spoke the obvious truth about "multiculturalism" - German Chancellor Calls Multiculturalism Experiment a Failure"..

The facts are in the 70 years since the end of WW2 we have lost not only our world hegemony and empire but have also lost control of our own Countries!! It all started slowly of course with your friendly hardworking non-white corner store owner or that over friendly darkie at work who just wants to support his family and was happy to be in such a peaceful beautiful country such as ours. Thus they preyed upon our natural kindness and hospitality for those less fortunate and took advantage of these European traits for there own selfish gain.

Now look at what has happened because of this "Christian charity" immigration turned into an outright invasion and with there numbers and the Zog government behind them their courage is bolstered as they yell "institutionalized racism" "evil colonialism" "neo Nazism" if they don't get what they want or the native European population is critical of these foreign invaders. Now the true colours of these animals be it from Australia to Norway and every other predominantly white/European country around the world. These foreign bastards show the true hate they have for OUR culture and the despise they hold for us and OUR way of life and now showing nothing but contempt and disrespect for our war dead and the ones who fought built and bled for the lands and social programs that they now leech off of the ungrateful parasites!!

We must Awaken and take a sober look around our once great lands and in the name of our forefathers who have passed and are being dishonored and in the name of our future generations who will certainly be in peril. Take action, speak up and prepare yourselves for the coming shock!! For as a wise man once said to his Folk " Be tough as leather fast as a greyhound and hard as Krupp steal"

ISD Memorial Melbourne Australia

Saturday September 25th saw the 17th annual Ian Stuart Donaldson memorial gig in Melbourne Australia. My first one since 2003 after living overseas I sure was glad to be home and see some familiar faces, I think I spent more time catching up with people than watching the bands!

First up was White Knuckle Driver hailing all the way from USA it was the first time I had ever heard these guys and I was pretty impressed, they kicked the night off with a catchy fast paced set. Next up was old time Aussie band Open Season these guys got the crowd going people were flying all over the place.

Third band of the evening was Melbourne's very own Deaths Head debuting with their fresh faced new guitarist, I must admit it was the first time I've seen the room full for these guys (haha! Jesse would probably agree with me there!) Everyone went off and it was obvious they were one of the crowd favourites especially with the younger lads.

Blue Eyed Devils ended what only can be described as a top notch trouble free night. You could see everyone had been waiting to see these guys and with a little help from BJ taking the mike mid set and encouraging the crowd to get out on the floor. B.E.D played the night out perfectly with a great homage to Ian Stuart with a cover of Skrewdriver's Street fight featuring the lead singers from the previous bands.

Thanks to Blood & Honour Australia and SCHS for all their hard work in putting on a great night (whole weekend actually!)

Hail Ian Stuart RIP.

Free Edgar Steele

Mr. Steele is COMPLETELY INNOCENT - His arrest has been orchestrated by a corrupt government via their armed police, in an attempt to silence his pointed, politically incorrect thought, research and commentary. He has become a POLITICAL PRISONER. This is a fraud, a "frame-up". The arrest of Edgar J. Steele and his evolving legal battle regarding a "murder-for-hire plot" he is alleged to have undertaken.

In the spirit of an America conceived as a Constitutional Republic, endowing free speech and fair, impartial justice upon its citizens, we must all rise from the sidelines to stand with, and for a fellow citizen. Many believe the America of 2010 – the "great experiment in government" – has run its course and now has devolved into a megalomaniacal oligarchy, fearful of and abusive to citizens like Mr. Steele.

Merkel says German multicultural society has failed

The German Chancellor, Angela Merkel: “immigrants should learn to speak German”

Attempts to build a multicultural society in Germany have “utterly failed”, Chancellor Angela Merkel says.

She said the so-called “multicultural” concept – where people would “live side-by-side” happily – did not work, and immigrants needed to do more to integrate – including learning German. The comments come amid rising anti-immigration feeling in Germany.

A recent survey suggested more than 30% of people believed the country was “overrun by foreigners”.

The study – by the Friedrich Ebert Foundation think-tank – also showed that roughly the same number thought that some 16 million of Germany’s immigrants or people with foreign origins had come to the country for its social benefits.

Mrs Merkel told a gathering of younger members of her conservative Christian Democratic Union (CDU) party on Saturday that at “the beginning of the 60s our country called the foreign workers to come to Germany and now they live in our country.”

She added: “We kidded ourselves a while, we said: “They won’t stay, sometime they will be gone’, but this isn’t reality.”

“And of course, the approach [to build] a multicultural [society] and to live side-by-side and to enjoy each other... has failed, utterly failed.”

White Women are 12.4 Times More Likely to be Murdered by a Black Husband Than by a White Husband

Of spouse homicides occurring from 1979 to 1981, 96.3 per cent occurred in interracial marriages. Spouse homicides in marriages where the husband was Black and the wife was White constituted 1.4 per cent of the total, and marriages where the husband was White and the wife was Black accounted for 0.5 per cent. Spouse homicide incidence rates were 7.7 times higher in interracial marriages relative to interracial marriages.

White women who marry a black husband increase their chances of being a victim of spousal homicide by 12.4 times.

In the report, “Fatal Violence among Spouses in the United States, 1976-85,” by James A. Mercy and Linda E. Saltzman, spousal homicide is examined along racial lines.

STOP ILLEGAL IMMIGRATION WAU Argentina

The issue of illegal immigration and the dangers it entails in Argentina or, for that matter, in any country, is nothing new. However, the illegal occupation of a large public park in the locality of Villa Soldati one week ago (Editor's Note: December 3, approximately) in Buenos Aires federal district enraged the neighbors of the affected locality and the entire country. It was reported that 95% of the squatters or "okupas", as they are referred to, were foreigners of Bolivian and Paraguayan origin and most of them come from villas (shanty towns) in Buenos Aires federal district, where they steal electricity and water, among other utilities.

The neighbors of Villa Soldati immediately took action and resisted the occupation by the illegal immigrants in any way they could. The neighbors were armed with home-made guns, sticks and stones. The clashes were especially harsh last Thursday and Friday and there were several demonstrations, some rather violent, to protest against this situation. The national government flatly refused to do anything to prevent these incidents, on the contrary, it seemed rather pleased with the rioting and even called Mauricio Macri, the mayor of Buenos Aires federal district, a "xenophobe" for saying that his administration will not allow the mafia and drug dealers to occupy a public park and for saying that the occupation of public spaces is unacceptable.

After this massive occupation, more illegal immigrants were encouraged to take over other abandoned premises and the occupation of lands multiplied: an abandoned meat processing plant, buildings, the premises of a sports club...we are talking about either public lands, despite being abandoned or unused, and other private spaces. Either way, these illegal immigrants do not have the right to take over such lands to set up even more "villas".

During the last days, the illegal immigrants have been leaving the occupied lands as a result of an agreement between the national government and the government of Buenos Aires federal district. The agreement is that both governments will allocate equal amounts of money to subsidize the purchase of houses for those immigrants that do not occupy public lands. These illegal immigrants want to be the beneficiaries of such scheme, they agreed to move out of the premises.

The issue of illegal immigration is completely ignored in Argentina. There are several thousands of illegal immigrants, especially in Buenos Aires federal district and Buenos Aires province, and the government does not do anything about it. These immigrants set up precarious huts and do not pay taxes, and much of the money they earn in the country is sent to their countries of origin. They live virtually for free without paying rent or any utility (power supply, water, even cable TV...).

In February 2004, our former President Néstor Kirchner ordered to suspend the deportation of illegal immigrants from neighboring countries within the frame of the amendment of Argentine immigration laws. Back then, the estimated number of illegal immigrants residing in Argentina was 700,000. Of course, the amendment of such laws never took place and therefore nobody is sure about what is possible and what not?. What is clear nowadays is that the situation is out of control and the government is not willing to move a finger to solve the problem. The victims, as usual, are us, the honest, law-abiding citizens who pay their taxes, the same taxes that are then used to provide the illegal immigrants with free hospitals and education for their large families.

The occupation of public lands by illegal immigrants in order to set up villas has been going on for years. This particular situation may now be partially solved, but for how long...? Many of the okupas still refuse to leave the occupied premises despite the threat of losing the benefits promised by the government...

The truth is that this issue is still not addressed officially and similar events are to be expected at any moment because, as long as our country does not enact efficient laws to prevent foreigners from coming into our country with the intention to live for free, the tension will continue. This invasion has to stop!

Unity Is strength..

On Saturday I attended the Blood & Honour South Australian sections White Xmas get together and it was inspiring to see so many different groups represented and all getting along. There were representatives from The Hammerskin Nation, WAU, Creativity Alliance, National Alternative & Australia First Party all enjoying a drink together, each others company and making plans to work together in the upcoming year. With so many different groups actively working together our future is already looking brighter & whiter.

Irish people only have themselves to blame...

Former president of Ireland Mary Robinson has said in an interview with the Sunday Times that Irish people only have themselves to blame for the economic crisis.. Robinson said that "greed was the main problem." She said that while a lot of blame can be put on people with political responsibility and in charge of the banks, "it's our own mistake as Irish people, collectively"....

From the Editor... I wonder why Mrs Robinson forgot to mention that our Taoideach Cowen sold us to the highest bidder "The International Money Fund" also known as Imposing Misery Forever, how the Irish people were duped into voting themselves into the E.U. - how we were promised jobs and wealth if we joined, but they forgot to mention they weren't real jobs with real Irish companies, they were jobs from other countries outsourced to Ireland. Mrs Robinson forgot to mention our countries open invite to the people of Poland to come in the hundreds of thousands and take jobs that we have worked for decades. Like most European countries we could list 400 reasons why Ireland is now OWNED by the banks of Europe, it has nothing to do with the people, it was a game of politics that our leaders played...

Heathen Corner...

Long Live Death

By Peter Georgacarakos

Among the European pantheons, there are two fairly well known mythological tales of destruction and renewal. In the Norse myth of Ragnarök, a conflict ensues between the "light" and the "dark" gods. All is destroyed, including the gods on both sides, and Baldur, the Son of Odin, re-emerges to lead in the rebuilding of a new world. There is also the Greek myth of the Phoenix, a great bird which lives for a certain period of time, then builds its own funeral pyre and flaps its wings to ignite the flames. With its great wings, the Phoenix purposefully fans the fires of its own destruction. When the fire has burned out, a new Phoenix, mightier than the old, emerges from the ashes.

It seems the biggest difference in these similar myths is the agent of destruction. Baldur is slain, essentially, by the trickster god Loki, while the Phoenix destroys itself. Ragnarök can be seen to represent the workings of polarized forces in the eternal cycle of life-death-renewal. This cycle governs civilizations. The Phoenix, however, with its lack of interacting forces, seems to encompass the self-generation of the forces of life-death-renewal in ourselves. These are the forces of self-overcoming.

This aspect of life is very important to our movement. Self-overcoming is a painful yet necessary experience. We have all endured many trying events in our lives - lost love, lost lives, failure, even the transition from childhood to adolescence, and adolescence to adulthood. These are everyday human manifestations of the rise of the Phoenix - in each endeavor, part of us is lost, yet we emerge stronger than before. The greatest significance of the Phoenix is that its life-death-renewal process is eternal, and therefore its greatness infinite.

What does the Phoenix represent to us now, as members of a revolutionary movement? If we take an honest moment to consider the movement, we will recognize many "Phoenixes" which plainly refuse to overcome, to build the funeral pyre of their unsuccessful paths, their once good but now stale stances, their outdated regalia. The flames of that fire are indeed difficult to bear, especially when they consume, by our own will, the work of years, sometimes of a lifetime. Yet the Phoenix, true to its cause, dutifully builds its pyre, ignites the flame, and fans the fire of self-destruction with an eye to the future - to the re-emergence of something more noble than what is lost. The newborn greatness is worth the painful fire. When this natural process is forsaken, stagnation and decay settle in. We see this in our society; we must now see this in our movement.

It seems obvious that when the duty to carry on the eternal saga of the Phoenix is disregarded, the destruction necessary to allow the renewal process to continue will come eventually, via Ragnarök, and inevitable destruction from without.

How many of us have looked forward with eager eyes for the advent of Ragnarök, while we did not even deal adequately with the cycles of our own existence? Can one who refuses to accept the fires of his own self-overcoming, due to vanity or weakness, really hope to survive the destructive fires of an entire civilization?

Many pagans have known and taught the significance of Ragnarök for a long time. It is now time to fully understand the numinous meaning of the Phoenix. How can we demand that civilizations in decay must be destroyed in order that a new, brighter civilization may arise, when we do not adhere to the same cyclical necessities in the lives of men, and of the movement as an organism? The barbarians who crash the gates of the city thereafter crash our front doors!

Mythology, it has been said, is something that never was, but always is. Let us heed the wise messages of our great progenitors. We will never forget the majesty of the Acropolis, the enchantment of Homer, the wisdom of Socrates, or the might of the Spartan warrior. Let us likewise never forget the fires of the Phoenix.

There is much that is new in our movement, much that is fresh and invigorating. Why does the old, stagnant, proven-ineffective, stand beside it—crowd it—like a vulture beside the shining new Phoenix? We must collectively contemplate our philosophies, our thoughts, our actions, and ensure that each is not fit to be hurled upon the funeral pyre. If we see things that are, let us build the pyre with perseverance and a sense of duty, never forgetting that new heights shall be reached when the fires have died. Let us be willing to sacrifice parts of ourselves, even parts we have come to love and admire, so that greatness, and not custom, carries the torch of the moment.

Only thus can we, as a movement, continue to evolve as our environment evolves, and play a principal role in the events of the future. The many temporary deaths we will suffer as the fires of the Phoenix are ablaze are nothing compared to the eternal death, with no possible re-emergence, that our people will suffer if we are not always new, always strong, always prepared to defend.

The Myth of ... "The Black Irish" ...

If I had a dollar for every-time I heard someone "claim" to be Black Irish I'd be a millionaire by now, so let's get this Myth exposed so we can move on and stop using the term black Irish..

I was born and raised in Dublin, Ireland and in my 38 years on this planet I have only known one black haired Irish person with hazel coloured eyes. Now when this topic is being discussed and people insist that black Irish folk exist because of black hair and dark eyes I immediately roll my eyes and ask do they live in Ireland,? and so far not one of them has even been to Ireland, but they know a girl from when they were in kindergarten who had black hair and her family had Irish Ancestry, I then explain that the term has never been used in Ireland, how I only know one person with black hair and I was born and raised in Ireland, etc. but no that one girl with black hair from kindergarten proves it beyond a reasonable doubt it would seem..

Now let me get onto the Myth and Legend behind the term "Black Irish"..

Myth No 1 = The Spanish Felícima Armada survivors of 1588 managed to impregnate so many of the women folk of Ireland and create a new breed of Irish People called the "Black Irish" now the reality is those who survived the crash where rounded up and shot by British... Even if the few men who washed ashore survived there wasn't enough men to influence in the slightest degree the complexion or the ethnological peculiarities of the inhabitants of the Irish coast.

Myth No 2 = The Fir Bolg, the so-called aboriginal people of Ireland who were small with jet black hair, white skin and dark eyes... it even seems like there is even a connection to Africa. Yes you can now roll your eyes because I did, but hey this is what happens when you reference Wikipedia and state it as fact, this tidbit I got from a paper that caters to Celts abroad.

Myth No 3 = We are decedents of Iberia, apparently the Irish & Spanish have been intermingling for several thousand years, but I guess all these "intermingled children" left Ireland and immigrated to the USA since none are left in Ireland, in Ireland we have pale skin, light hair and many other differences from the Spanish, but now we are Spanish again..

Could be True No 1- When the Irish first arrived in the USA they were Catholics in a dominantly protestant country, we were not really liked or welcomed. The potato blight was black, so the Irish who landed on American shores were called "Black Irish"...

Could be True No 2 - Northern Ireland Catholics called Ulster Protestants "Black Irish" because of their loyalty to the British crown.

At the end of the day the term "Black Irish" only seems to exist in the USA and not one person can give you a factual answer as to why this term is used, I can say with confidence that the term has got nothing to do with dark coloured Irish Folk since we have close to none in Ireland who are of Irish Blood / Lineage. It was most likely coined way back when to describe the poor and famished nothing more nothing less..

Marcelo Scalera

Comrade Marcelo Scalera was 32 years old when he was murdered by Communist scum in 1996. At that time, he was a member of the Partido Nuevo Orden Social Patriótico (PNOPS), an Argentine Nationalist party, and the party members used to gather at a park, Parque Rivadavia, located in the city of Buenos Aires, where the party leader ran a book-selling stand.

On April 28, 1996, a left-wing concert was held in the Parque Rivadavia; one week before the concert, mysterious flyers incited people to attack the "Nazi stand" on the day of the concert and kill the "Nazis". Reports from comrades who were present that day say that between 30 and 40 NS comrades were brutally attacked by approximately 700 people...the odds were clearly against them. Scalera received many kicks all over his body even if he was already lying helpless on the floor. He died 10 days later in a hospital bed from the wounds he received.

Later on, there were rumours claiming that some disloyal comrades were also to be blamed for his death. Whether that was true or not is beyond us, since the purpose of this article is not to look for culprits, but to remember Marcelo Scalera so that his death is not forgotten.

Nobody was ever convicted for his murder. However, he lives on in the memory of his comrades past and present. His struggle is also our struggle!

HENRIK HOLAPPA'S WRONGFULLY ACCUSED - EBOOK.

It's been now two years since I took the risk of my life when applying the political asylum in the United States of America. That however, gave me a few extra months to spend in a country that I considered the country of freedom. However, my stay in America did end in March 9, 2009 for my arrest by the Immigration and Customs Enforcement, and eventually to my 87 day incarceration in the US federal prison system in Batavia, New York.

After my deportation from the USA, in June 2009, I decided to write a book about my experiences in America, and in the prison. Finally now, I have been able to complete my story how I viewed America, the prison, as well as my experiences there as a free man. If I can say, in this story I have combined my political views, my experiences, about my personal life and little bit about history - and how the prison, whether or not we do want to admit it, changes those who have been there - no matter if it is just a few months or few years up to decades, but it changes time and way of thinking in certain matters.

I have dedicated my book to all those individuals who have lost their freedom in America and for those who continue fighting for the civil rights of White European-Americans.

Another White Community Screwed Over by the Australian Federal Government.

Forty minutes drive from where I live is the picturesque Adelaide Hills, a splattering of small towns, surrounded by lush pastoral land & beautiful bushland, the type of place my family & I would love to live if we had a spare $500 000. One of these is the township of Woodside, a beautiful small rural community in the lovely Onkaparinga Valley approx 38 kms from Adelaide. It contains two pubs, a post office, bank, Supermarket, a few antique shops, cafes, Bed & Breakfast style accommodation and is the home of the famous Melbas Chocolate factory. The local primary school has about 220 students and is at capacity, the local hospital closed down over 20 yrs ago, the local police station has minimal staff & is open infrequently, calls are diverted and police attendance comes from over 16 kms away. It has a population of around 1,826 consisting of mostly white families, yet this is where our government is planning the newest detention centre to house over 400 of the so- called 'asylum seekers' that are flooding our shores illegally. Instead of turning these boats around or detaining these so-called 'asylum seekers' in secure detention centres or having them processed off shore (as was promised) they have decided to make them a home on some of the most sought after land in Adelaide.

Just 3kms outside the township of Woodside is the old army barracks of Inverbrackie, containing over 80 houses that have been sitting empty for years, instead of using these houses to house some of our own homeless and needy families, the Australian Federal Government announced that it would use this land as a low security detention centre for these illegal 'refugees'. I took a drive past over the weekend and saw some lovely little homes with air-conditioning, tennis courts and a large amount of vacant land, which they have assured us it would not expand past the allocated 400 person accommodation (yeah right). The only thing to stop these illegals from accessing the main road & only 100 metres away is a small cattle fence, which you could step over. Mind you these people have not been processed or health checked, so who knows what diseases they carry and yet they want to send the children to the local schools.

Almost every day there are new reports of the arrival of more and more boatloads of 'asylum seekers'. The way in which our Government is announcing more and more on-shore detention centres to cope with this influx, is in direct conflict with its election platform of undertaking more stringent offshore processing. Today it is Woodside/ Inverbrackie in South Australia and Northam in Western Australia. When these facilities are at capacity, which other defenceless communities will the government arbitrarily decide should host these on-going arrivals?

It is obvious that the Government has not followed due process in making these decisions, in that the communities concerned have not been consulted, thus ignoring the rights of the residents under the Australian constitution. Any decision that has the capacity to have such a wide-ranging impact on the lifestyle and culture of these small communities should have been preceded by an in-depth assessment of its effect on infrastructure, health, education, emergency services, tourism, etc. But given that the Commonwealth owns the land/facility, the Government has taken the stance they can do what they like with it, irrespective of the outcomes for the local communities or surrounding areas.

All that can be hoped to be gained from this, is that more & more people will start to wake up and take a stand, hopefully before it is too late.

Bund Deutscher Mädel

- ◆ The League of German Girls was the female part of the overall national-socialist youth movement known as the Hitler Youth. Its proper title was The League of German Girls in the Hitler Youth.
- ◆ The first BDM Reichsreferentin was Trude Mohr, later Trude Buerkner-Mohr after she got married in 1937. Her successor was Dr. Jutta Ruediger, who held the position from 1937 until the end of the war in 1945.
- ◆ Just like girl scouts nowadays, girls back then could earn proficiency badges (merit badges) if they performed well, and there were plenty of opportunities for them to prove themselves within the structure of the BDM and to win awards – youth festivals, as well as music, education and sports competitions were held regularly on local, regional, as well as national levels.
- ◆ The League of German Girls also placed big importance on finishing school and getting training in a profession. An aspect that appealed to many of the teenage girls in the League of German Girls was that the BDM openly advertised jobs and job training for women, which was very progressive and even emancipating for its time.
- ◆ In 1939 the inception of the Belief and Beauty Society, a new voluntary group for BDM members between the ages of 17 and 21.
- ◆ Older girls, such as the members of the BDM's Belief and Beauty Society, also often took on full-time jobs such as working in stores or factories to relieve mothers who were on motherhood leave, or workers who'd been drafted into the army. They served as nurses, substitute teachers, or secretaries.
- ◆ In 1936 - Inception of the League of German Girls house-holding schools, where one-year courses were given on child care and other aspects of home economics, many of which were taught by members of the Frauenschaft.
- ◆ A few girls also joined the Wehrwolf organization, which is now generally referred to as the Nazi guerrilla movement. While only about 5000 members strong, Wehrwolf's ranks included some 500 women, a small percentile of whom were BDM girls. The most notable BDM girl to serve in the Wehrwolf was a young former Gaufuehrerin, Ilse Hirsch, who became part of a Wehrwolf team that parachuted into Belgium behind Allied lines, and then crossed into the city of Aachen on foot where they assassinated the mayor who had been appointed by the Allies.

Interview with Spanish band..... INVICTOS

WAU First of all, thank you for the interview. Tell us a bit about how the band started and the line up.

INVICTOS Our band was formed in the summer of 2006 in a private party attended by Jessi, Feminass' singer, and Enrique, who was Odio Urbano and Unidad Ezquerra's drummer at that time, after that improvised performance and because of the good feedback from the public, we decided to start rehearsing and, later on, the bass player and the guitarist joined us; since then, the band has four members, one woman and three men, we are from Valencia and Barcelona.

WAU We know that the singer is a woman (she sings very well, by the way), what is the situation of skingirls in the Spanish NS movement?

INVICTOS The female skinhead movement is pretty small in our country, there are very committed women, but sadly, most women are just "comrades' girlfriends" and do not really participate in the movement. Recently, some magazines made entirely by women have been published and we think this is very good for the Spanish movement.

WAU We have heard about the recent court ruling against the comrades from Blood and Honour Spain, how was this news taken in Spain? We also heard about the gig where the police broke in and seized material. Are you being persecuted more than before?

INVICTOS Yes, the conviction of the BH comrades was made public recently, it has been a hard blow for the Spanish movement. Also, some people have lost their jobs because of the circus set up by the media, undoubtedly we are going through bad times, we feel very persecuted, and as you said, a couple of weeks ago a gig was assaulted by more than 100 cops (SWAT), the owner was arrested and the gig cancelled...these are really hard times for both the Spanish and the European movements.

WAU Which of your songs is the band members' favorite and which is the song most requested by the public?

INVICTOS The song we like the most is Invictos, because of its lyrics and music. The female public usually asks us to play Skingirl, because it is a fast song ideal to pogo at live gigs.

WAU In our opinion, Spain has always produced great RAC/OI bands, tell us about the bands that are currently active in the Spanish scene and about your musical influences.

INVICTOS Currently, bands like Iberian Wolves and Drammatic Battle that play live often; other bands, such as Más que palabras and Hijos del odio continue playing, and this year, one of the best bands ever started playing live again, we are speaking about Batallón de Castigo, right now they are organizing another gig in Barcelona, we hope you all come. In regards to influences, actually our band has our own style that had never been heard in the Spanish scene before. Invictos' sound for ever!!!

WAU How many times have you played live and with which bands?

INVICTOS We have played at many events and in many Spanish cities: Barcelona, Valencia, Zaragoza, Valladolid, La Rioja, Madrid, Tarragona...we have also played outside Spain with many bands like Hobbit, SPQR, Fraction, and Kommando Skin.

WAU Do the band members have experience playing in other bands? (we know that the singer had a project called Feminass).

INVICTOS Yes, that is correct, she has her own musical project, the drummer has previously played in Odio Urbano, Unidad Ezquerra, Legión Condor, Nyenor, and the guitarist has played in Brigada NS (Brazil), Odio Urbano, Estandarte 88...

WAU What is your most memorable gig? (either for a good thing or a bad thing that happened).

INVICTOS Undoubtedly, the gig on the 12th of June in Spain, because of the unreasonable attack by the police against people who were at a private event enjoying a night of comradeship and brotherhood.

WAU What are the band's projects for 2011?

We plan to continue playing live, our last live gig was on August 7 in Valencia, and we try to continue with our political and musical struggle!

WAU Last words are yours!

INVICTOS Thank you. Greetings to WAU and to our friend Alf, thank you for your interest and we also want to greet our friends in Spain, Portugal, France, Belgium, Italy, England, Holland, Germany, Czech Republic, Slovakia, Hungary, Switzerland, Croatia, Lithuania, Ukraine, Russia, New Zealand, Australia...and specially to all those who keep up the fight in South America, the fight goes on!!! Keeping The Faith - Voice Of Our Prisoners Toward a Higher Standard by Hildof Valtamsson

"The highest courage is to dare to be yourself in the face of adversity. Choosing right over wrong, ethics over convenience, and truth over popularity... these are the choices that measure our lives. Heroes travel the path to integrity without looking back, for there is never a wrong time to do the right thing." -Author Unknown

The preceding quote, though one of the many hundreds I've collected over the past few years, has come to be one of my favorites. I can't remember exactly where I came across it, but that can be said about a lot of the quotes I've amassed. Usually the author's name will direct me to a book I have read, but sometimes it isn't so simple. To me though, it's not really important where I found it, or even who said it or wrote it for that matter because my whole reason for writing them down in the first place is the inspiration I derive from them. By "inspiration" I mean guidance, enlightenment, and a strong link to others who think the same, or similarly, to myself. Sometimes the quotes I write down are words that illuminate a certain vision for me, a vision that the next man might not see when reading the same words, and sometimes they're words that I know will fuel specific feelings. Either way, they're words of virtue that I always find valuable when walking my path.

Besides coming to the conclusion of what I believe the ideal Aryan to be, these last few years in ZOG's care have also defined two other things for me as well. One, the path through life I am destined to walk. And two, the disgusting and despicably low moral standard a lot of our kinsfolk follow. By kinsfolk, I specifically mean the White men I am forced to co-habitat with right now, although I'm quite sure my description could easily apply to most White folk these days. Most of the men I see daily are lames and degenerates. Men who are enthralled by selfish and diseased thinking, and in numerous other ways, men who are unfit to carry our Aryan blood within their veins. Over the years I have met many who proudly call themselves Aryans, with a few being upstanding warriors whom I proudly embrace as Brothers. But I must say that most of them... no, a lot of them, leave a lot to be desired. By my standard, being White doesn't make you an Aryan.

I look back on my foregoing thoughts and I realize they must make me appear as an arrogant, pretentious prick who thinks he's better than everyone else. Am I? Well... one of the first things I taught myself was discipline, and discipline for me includes being able to emulate the very ideals I expect others to exemplify -- to lead by example. I don't mean to sound like a communist with this talk of everyone emulating certain views. (I don't think we should all drive red Volkswagen's.) But the fact of the matter is that on specific topics there can only be one way. For those who know me, some of my views might seem a little extreme. I've been told that I take life too seriously that I'm a fanatic and that I'm too hard on others by expecting too much from them. But as the late and honorable George Lincoln Rockwell said: "America has moved so damnably far toward the extreme left that any effort to get back to the center must, by necessity, be 'extreme rightist'." There can be no half-measures. Half-measures are for those who don't wish to succeed.

So back to my above question: Am I an "arrogant, pretentious prick?" If holding myself to a higher standard constitutes me being such a person, then I am proud of the epithet. And... "better than everyone else"? Not at all. While I'm able to see my positive attributes, I'm also able to clearly see my faults. I am not delusional into thinking I am perfect.

Being aware of my imperfection leaves me with two choices though. To either struggle and overcome my deficiencies, or to take the easy way out and surrender myself to ZOG's aimless, materialistic utopia. Struggle is defining, surrender self-deprecating. I choose the path less traveled. In today's society though, most people only have one major concern -- being comfortable. Comfort and struggle don't go together. Give these contentment-seekers a decent paycheck, even if it means working a 60 or 80 hour week for it, a television so they can watch their soap operas and sitcoms, and then you can pretty much treat them however you want, as long as you don't take away their sense of comfort. The comfortable numbness they covet in turn anesthetizes their instinctual conception of right and wrong so that they care for very little besides false tranquility. Who cares if their 13 year old daughter comes home and announces she's pregnant by the baboon standing behind her in their living room? Who cares that the country sending thousands of young White kids into the desert to either be killed or have their limbs blown off, all at the behest and planning of Israel? Who cares that our government, the very people elected to serve us ("to serve us" is the proper terminology), are in league with the enemies of Aryan folk worldwide and do not have the best interests of White Americans in mind when making their decisions? Who cares that you constantly see advertisements portraying inter-racial relationships as okay, or that there are hundreds of foundations asking for your donations so that they can feed some Somali or Himalayan family, but there are very few, if any foundations to help the unfortunate Whites in America, or worldwide for that matter? Who cares that our country is being flooded by a third world mudslide, or that Whites are being so quickly out-bred in America by non-Whites that within a turn, our present day debauchery -- I mean democracy -- we will be easily out-voted and at the mercy of inferior mongrels? Who cares?!

The valueless, materialistic, comfort-seeking degenerates who only care about themselves obviously don't. For years now I have come to view this type of person as exactly what the Jews call our people... "goyim", which means 'cattle' in their language. This type of person wears the Jews' yoke to work, where they slave away to put money in the Jews' pocket, and then they return home to their pen (which they also pay the Jews for) to be comfortable. True, they have plenty of soft, cozy hay inside their pen to lie upon, a water trough to quench their thirst, and green grass to gnaw on, but they never think outside of their pen! Even though there aren't any fences keeping them in, they're oblivious and willing slaves. Our ancestors must look on with disgust. As pathetic as they may seem though, even this type of person isn't the worst in my eyes.

Over the years I have come to despise another type of person that plagues our race even more. I've come to think of them as "convenient Aryans" and loathe them as much as race traitors. They're the ones who throw themselves into a fight for whatever reason, know the truth matters, but are unwilling to sacrifice when circumstances demand it. They're the ones that relegate their (so-called) values from the drivers seat to the trunk when its inconvenient to stand for them. When the time comes to take up sword and shield, they're the ones whose knees shake and balls shrivel up, forcing them to tuck tail and run. They're the ones who have a swastika tattooed on them or are associated with a certain organization, but don't want anyone to know because they're in prison where they're outnumbered by enemies. Or they're the high school history teacher who knowingly and willingly teaches kosher version of World War Two while being totally aware that everything he is teaching is false, just so he can keep his job. I could go on and on, but I'm sure you see my point. Besides, by now it must seem like I'm nothing more than a hater. I assure you though, that's not the case. The love I feel for my people far outweighs my hatred.

So, after all of the foregoing, what does that leave us with? It leaves us with a small number of true and loyal folk when compared to the whole of our race, who are dedicated to the cause and willing to stand for our values; men and women who exemplify the virtues contained in the quote at the beginning of the article. Does that make us some sort of elite group or something? Some people think so, and I won't linger on my opinion, which is more yes than no because the fact remains that we still have our faults, our weak areas. Constant commitment to personal growth and refinement is one of our duties as Aryans, for we as individuals are only links in a giant chain, a chain (sorry about the cliché) that is only as strong as its weakest link. So it is our responsibility to strengthen and mold ourselves into men and women who live by the following creed -- No Compromise.

Those two words are what separate us from the rest. I've seen too many people compromise their values when they think no one is watching, when it's easier and more convenient, or when the weather turns stormy. I've recently come to the realization that most of these people don't compromise their values because if they sincerely were their values, then they couldn't be compromised in the first place. These people are nothing more than posers. On the other hand, I have seen a few men who I believe did value certain things, but just didn't have the courage to stand for them in the face of adversity. As the great Adolf Hitler said: "...only what stands strong in times of storm is really strong." It's actually quite disgusting, and even a little depressing, to compare the quality of our people today to that of our ancestors. But as any type of craftsman, we have to work with the material we have on hand. We are the vanguard and onward we must march with the weapons we have available.

But back to my original train of thought. Essentially I have broken our race down into three vague groups of people: the herd grazers or cattle; "the convenient Aryans," which are either posturers, weaklings or cowards; and then us. The first two groups far outnumber us, so we are charged with the responsibility of teaching our values to others who are receptive and especially with instilling them in our children.

As our children constitute our future, they are the most important. Cherish them more than life itself, and protect with them with the savagery of a rabid wolf. Raise them on virtue, so that when we fall our banner remains raised and moving forward. Teach your sons the way of the warrior, but just as important, teach them of their duties as husband and father. Teach them the Aryan virtues that our ancestors have exemplified for thousands of years, the truth of those virtues, and the importance of them as well. But above all, teach them to never compromise and to always hold themselves to a higher standard. If we are to secure the existence of our people and a future for White children, then a higher standard than today's perverted norm is a must. And it must start with you.

In closing Brothers and Sisters, I leave you with the following words by another great Aryan warrior who gave his life for our struggle:

"...let us evaluate ourselves with brutal honesty and ask if our actions are noble. Then, remember that a major principle of nobility is the example we have set, either directly to White children or to others who have the opportunity to influence our Children." ~David Lane

The Alien Flood Must Stop!

The Toronto Sun (November, 8, 2010) criticized Immigration Minister Jason Kenney's new strategy and urged "Go for skilled immigration." Kenney's plan is to bring more family class immigrants rather than skilled immigrants. Of course, this is not what Canadians would like to see. If the bizarre Canadian immigration and refugee policy had not broken-up alien families in the first place, there would be no need to reunify them. The reunification will only lead to more break ups ... and on and on it will go. This poorly thought out policy is a national death spiral.

However, the Sun's idea to bring more skilled workers to Canada is not much better. Young Canadians who spend years of training to become qualified tradesmen will have to compete with cheap foreign labour and see their wages reduced to Third World levels. Considering the excessive government taxes, fees and the cost of living in Canada, their new skills will hardly suffice to support their family formation. While young working Canadians have to mortgage their lives and, thus, can't have children, alien breeders multiply in subsidized public housing, courtesy of the Canadian taxpayers, willing or not. Hence, the catastrophic decline in the birth rates in Canada of the founding/settler people. Historically low birthrates in Canada will, however, only provide more ammunition for our highly priced academic idiots to conclude: "Let's bring more aliens to Canada".

The law of demography states that for every immigrant one less Canadian will be born. Our elected and appointed simpletons in Ottawa and academia just can't or won't understand that.

Two days later on Wednesday, November 10, the Sun dared to publish results of a poll that reflects Canadian views on immigration under a headline that "Canucks want immigration shakeup. The poll shows that, despite massive propaganda bombardment,, Canadians reject all forms of alien invasion. There was never an open public discussion regarding alien immigration nor was the scale of massive immigration fully understood. This scale of immigration will lead to genocide through of the White Canadians.

["A Leger Marking poll of 1,503 Canadians found that 40% of Canadians say the government should limit immigrants from certain countries in order to change the mix of immigrants coming to Canada. 'Quebec and Ontario are really looking for a different mix,' said Dave Scholz, vice-president of Leger. Quebecers were most likely to agree with the statement that 'Canada should limit immigrants from certain countries to provide a more balanced mix of new immigrants to Canada,' with 35%. ... In 2009, close to one-third of all new immigrants to Canada came from just three countries - China (29,049), Philippines (27,277) and India (26,122)."] (Toronto Sun, November 10, 2010)]

Currently, very few European immigrants care to come to Canada, as our country is swept by an alien invasion. Somewhere in the Sun, they noted that refugees from Slovakia and Hungary had arrived in Canada. Hmm, they forgot to note, these are not Europeans, but gypsies.

While most Canadians oppose alien invasion of polygamists, terrorists and gangsters, the invasion is hotly supported by the Canadian politicians, academics and industrial profiteers who look for cheap labour. The rich feel safe behind their security walls, while most Canadians have to struggle in their daily lives. In due course, alien immigration will ruin our nation and Canada will become no more than a dumping ground, a colony stoked by alien overpopulation in foreign countries, to which we must provide foreign aid.

Canadians deserve country of their own, free of aliens...

LIBRERIA EUROPA OWNER JAILED...

Spanish police arrested Pedro Varela, the owner of the only bookstore in Spain that sells books about the second world war, paganism, etc. check out their site : <http://www.libreriaeuropa.es>

The owner of the bookstore LIBRERIA EUROPA was accused of advocating genocide and was arrested. The judge has decided not to grant a stay of sentence of one year and three months sentence and ordered his imprisonment, although this decision may be appealed. In the court notes, the judge noted that the two sentences Varela had received were because his criminal record demonstrates his danger, Varela had served a sentence of seven months in prison in 2008.

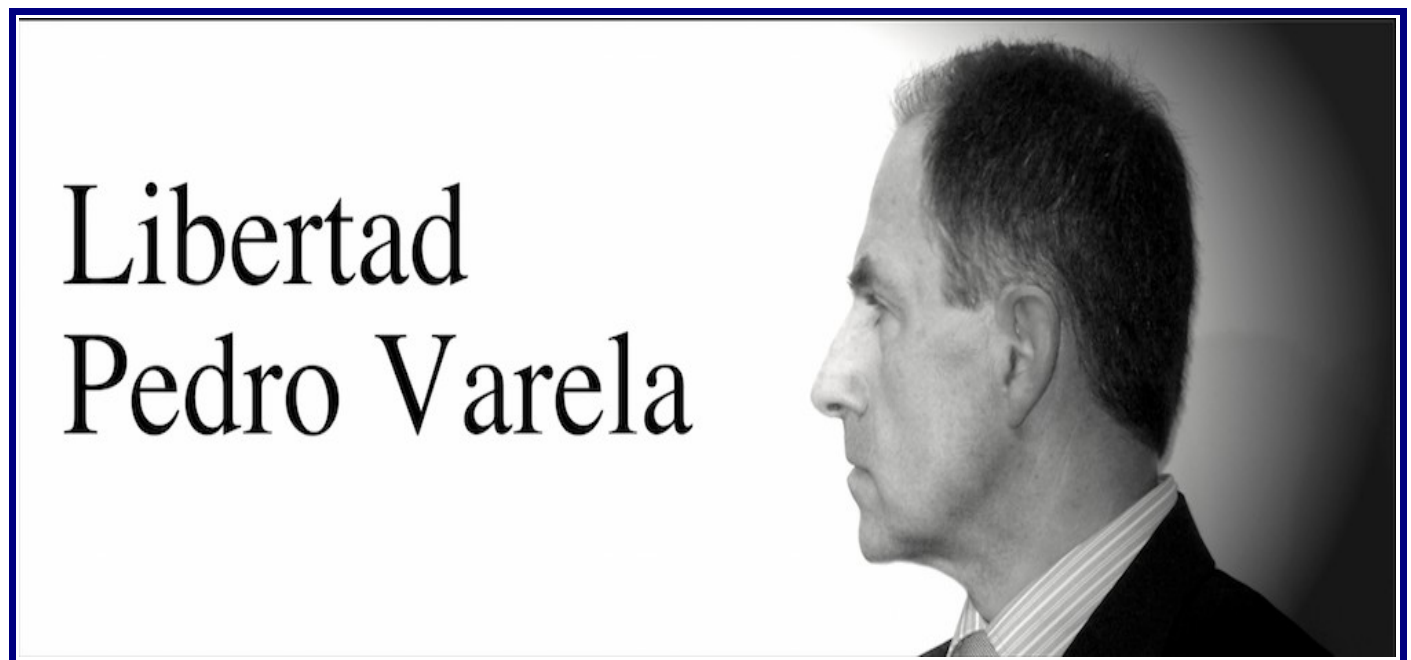

The sentence of one year and three months imprisonment to be met by Varela was imposed in May by the Court of Barcelona, which lowered a previous conviction of two years and nine months in prison handed down by a judge. The court acquitted him of the crime of causing discrimination by ideology, race and sexual orientation, and instead, kept the punishment for the dissemination of genocidal ideas.

The new ruling states that for four years, Europa has sold books that "elevate and justify" the Nazi genocide against the Jewish people and publications that "disparage other races or ethnic groups, women, homosexuals and people with disabilities".

Moreover, at the request of special prosecutor Miguel Angel Aguilar, the Court of Barcelona has reopened the case that a court in Barcelona had filed in late 2009 against him for having published and distributed in Spain without authorization "Mein Kampf" by Adolf Hitler.

Your Mother

When your mother
has grown older,
When her dear,
faithful eyes
No longer see life as they once did,
When her feet, grown tired,
No longer want to carry her as she walks,

Then lend her your arm in support,
Escort her with happy pleasure --
The hour will come when, weeping,
You must accompany her on her final walk.

And if she asks you something,
Then give her an answer.
And if she asks again, then speak!
And if she asks yet again, respond to her,
Not impatiently, but with gentle calm.

And if she cannot understand you properly,
Explain all to her happily.
The hour will come, the bitter hour,
When her mouth asks for nothing more.

By Adolf Hitler, 1923

White Genocide by Nathan Thill

In Ireland; bombs, guns, and tanks are everywhere,
As whites kill whites, the children are scared,
Blind to the Genocide they're causing on their race.

In Germany, east and west -- divided by their ways,

An impression scarred through the wall is now gone,
Forced to feel guilt for deeds never done.

Britains streets are lined with cameras to watch their step,
Privacy is something unknown to them,
Though police tell them how to think.

France is overwhelmed with lust,
Forgetting their Noble past, the future is marked in disgust.

In Russia it's every man for himself,
Gangsters strip the poor of power and wealth.

The U.S.A. fights everyone's war,
To keep the Capitalists richer using up the poor.

South Afrika farmers of white decent are killed,
Children are starving as their parents lose all wealth.

Europe, America, wherever, it's all the same,
Whites are dying every day,
Some from disease, some from themselves,
As we fight each other over religion and wealth.

Foreigners invade our nations,
Bringing their problems to our towns and schools,
As if we didn't have enough problems as it were.

The real war is for the survival of Blood and Soil,
We must stop letting all swallow our lands,
Secure our homes, make a true stand.

If we don't, it will be the end of us all,
For no wealth or religion can bring back the dead,
Extinction is real if we don't look ahead.

Who is a movement POW or Political Prisoner Bruder Schweigen POW

It continues to amaze me that people find it necessary to "debate" or otherwise argue over who is or who is not a Movement Prisoner of War and/or Political Prisoner (POW/PP). The key word here is Movement. The American Prison System is full of prisoners who fit the bill as a POW/PP. However, there is a big difference between being a POW/PP and being a Movement POW/PP. There really is no issue to debate or argue about. Put simply, either a prisoner was involved with the racial movement, in one or more of its many forms, prior to his/her incarceration or they were not. If there were not, they still may be a POW/PP from the War on Drugs, the War on Gangs, the War on Poverty, etc., but they are not Movement POW/PP unless their incarceration resulted from a planned or spontaneous act on behalf of our race.

Movement people should be aware that just because you were part of the movement prior to your arrest, does not automatically qualify you as a Movement POW/PP. Your incarceration must be directly related to your involvement in the 14 Word Cause in order for you to qualify and be given status of a Movement POW/PP. To give just one example, if your incarceration is a result of your robbing a bank to support your drug habit you definitely do not qualify as a Movement POW/PP. In fact, if you use drugs, you don't belong in the movement in the first place. Anyway, this example is one of the reasons racial organizations and publications require proof of reason for why an individual was incarcerated before they will give them Movement POW/PP status.

Our Racial Movement has reached out to many White prisoners who had either no inkling or could care less about the problems facing the White Race before racial realities slapped them in the face upon their incarceration. Granted, there is no money out there to be able to offer free handouts; but, be that as it may, the Racial Movement has made racial educational material available to White prisoners. By doing so, the Racial Movement has awakened the collective unconscious and introduced our Folk Soul to many White prisoners. This has resulted in there being many good men and women trapped behind the wire who do not use or sell drugs, who do not extort or otherwise prey on other whites and who do not participate in either side of homosexual acts. Many of these good White men are warriors in the truest sense of the word. These men also educate themselves and many know more about their culture, heritage and the racial struggle than do many movement people. These racially awakened prisoners carry themselves honorably and are examples for others. These racially awakened prisoners are potential assets to the racial movement and to the 14 WORD CAUSE. It will be the small percentage of these racially aware prisoners who, when released from prison, will take up the struggle for our race. They have the testicle fortitude to do what must be done, while those on the outside do not. These racially aware prisoners should be supported and encouraged by the Racial Movement; however, that support should be on a different level than the support given to the Movement POW/PPs. The reason for this is simple because regardless of how stalwartly these racially aware prisoners stand as warriors while in prison, no matter to what degree they are able to spout movement rhetoric, the fact of the matter remains, they are not Movement POW/PPs. It does not make them any less valuable either as individuals or as assets to the racial movement, it simply means you cannot be something you are not.

The following definitions have been adopted by the racial movement both in North America and in Europe.

POW -- Prisoner of War

1) A person incarcerated as a result of waging war against a power hostile to the White Race. The person acts in a military capacity as a soldier but need not be personally involved in armed conflict. Support personnel also qualify.

PP -- Political Prisoner

1) A person incarcerated as a result of their White Racial beliefs and/or acts in furtherance of these beliefs. The beliefs and acts may be legal or illegal. The person acts in civilian capacity.

2) A person who, because of his/her White Racial beliefs, receives a more punitive sentence for an illegal act than he/she would have received had he/she not held those beliefs.

3) A non movement person who was incarcerated for either planned or spontaneous actions on behalf of the White Race.

These definitions are pretty self explanatory. They have been in effect since 1990 and are used by every serious racial organization in determining who is qualified to be granted Movement POW/PP status. Such status is an honor bestowed only upon those who have sacrificed their freedom to the 14 Word Cause.

Anyone who feels he/she should be granted Movement POW/PP status must provide court documentation to prove he/she meets the qualifications set forth above. Those who objected to being required to supply such documentation probably have a very good reason for not wanting anyone to read their court documents. They also probably cannot prove any involvement with the Racial Movement prior to their incarceration.

Regardless of reason, without court documentation and proof of movement involvement prior to a prisoner's incarceration their movement's POW/PP lists! The only way we can make sure that worthy men and women of our race are being taken care of is to make sure those you correspond with, send money to are worthy of your support.

ISD Memorial, Argentina 2010

After many years, the Argentine scene hosted a foreign band at our ISD 2010. This time, it was the turn of Sao Pablo Reich, who became the second band from Sao Pablo to play in our country after Brigada NS back in 1998.

We also want to highlight the presence of comrades from Uruguay as well as from various Argentine provinces and localities, such as Cordoba, La Plata, etc.

Let's focus now on the good part of the evening, which was a lot!! The first band on stage was Battaglione, in their second live performance. Despite being a new band and having some sound problems during the first songs, all comrades sang their songs and received them with great enthusiasm. Perhaps, having uploaded their demo "El fuego de la revuelta" on the Internet to download for free made it easier for comrades to become familiar with some of their songs. They played songs from their demo, including "Traidor", "Malvinas", "Pueblo humillado," and a cover, "Nuestro deber," of the extinct Argentine band Razon y Fuerza.

Next, the public shared beers and conversation. It is worth mentioning that the attendance was very good and greater in number than at the first gig of the year, held in memory of Marcelo Scalera.

The next band to play was Sao Pablo Reich, who surprised us with their powerful voice and instruments. Even if the public did not know much about the band, there was good pogo during their songs and the crowd had much fun. They played songs such as "14 palabras," "Camaradas italianos," "Skinheads paulistas" and ended their set with a Cock Sparrer cover, "England belongs to me".

Time for another break to share more beer, conversation and music! We then had Borcegasso come on stage to play, their songs are well known by everybody. Some really violent pogo took place and the crowd had a lot of fun. Everybody sang along to the songs from their first demo, such as "Camisas pardas," "Falso socialismo," "Skinheads patriotas," "Contra todos," and some new songs, including "Camaradas y amigos". There was a good atmosphere among the crowd, who enjoyed the set and proved that this band incites to have a good time.

The last band on stage was Muerte y Calaveras, who played songs from their first CD "Noches de Furia" and songs from their next CD to be recorded within a few weeks. By the time the band went on stage, the crowd was exhausted; however, comrades continued to sing and pogo to the rythm of a RAC style heavier than the Oi style we are used to. The set included songs such as "Nacional revolucion," "Harto", "Noches de furia," new songs like "Nuestra conviccion" "Con nosotros marcha la muerte" and a "Batallon de Castigo" cover, "Mentiras" which was sung by the crowd.

This was the second gig organized by S.H.Z.N this year and fortunately, it was very successful. There were no problems, no fights or anything else that may have ruined our pride for continuing to build this scene and not letting it die.
